Governing Documents

The NACAC Bylaws and International ACAC Bylaws shall supersede all sections of these Board Policies and Procedures. The Board Policies and Procedures shall provide administrative direction to International ACAC and its Executive Board to effectively carry out the Bylaws and functions of the Association.

Mission Statement

To facilitate global interaction among counselors and institutions in support of secondary students transitioning to higher education, while promoting professional standards that foster ethical and social responsibility.

Guiding Principles

We, International ACAC, undertake to be open and accountable with all policies, procedures, decisions, and actions. The Board, committees, sub-committees, and work groups will:

- Be in alignment with the organization's mission, ethical statement (NACAC's Guide to Ethical Practice in College Admission), and in support of its integrity;
- Be student-centered, fostering opportunities to be successful in navigating their journey to higher education;

- Be responsive to the membership and those who share in the organization's mission;
- Be inclusive and mindful of its constituents' international voice; and
- Be conducted in the spirit of collaborative knowledge-sharing.

Statement on Diversity

International ACAC values diversity, equity, and inclusion. Informed by our mission statement and guiding principles, we support and enhance professionals who are ethically advising students as they move from secondary schooling to higher education, post-secondary experiences, and other pathways. Our members confront multiple facets of diversity-related challenges in their respective regions. International ACAC strives to provide the necessary resources and support to overcome these obstacles. Given that our global membership, staff, and community partnerships are dynamic and evolving, continual work and learning are required to further diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Incorporation

International ACAC is incorporated in the Commonwealth of Virginia. Under Delaware law, where NACAC is registered, International ACAC is a non-stock corporation, which means it is not owned by shareholders. International ACAC is registered with the US government as a 501(c)(3), meaning it is a non-profit entity.

International ACAC Executive Board

The Executive Board of International ACAC serves to advise the President and provide administrative leadership in developing and implementing policies, programs, and services for the Association. Membership of the Executive Board includes:

President
 President-Elect
 Past President
 Executive Vice President for Finance
 Vice President for Admissions Practices
 Vice President for Communications
 Vice President for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
 Vice President for Global Affairs
 Vice President for Member Engagement
 Vice President for Membership and Data
 Vice President for Professional Development
 Vice President for Support, Access, and Success
 Representatives to the Executive Board

General Responsibilities

In carrying out their functions for International ACAC, members of the Executive Board are subject to three primary legal obligations: a duty of care, a duty of loyalty, and a duty of obedience. The duties of care, loyalty, and obedience are the common law terms for the standards that the law uses to gauge the legality of a governing member's acts or omissions. The duty of care calls upon each member of the Executive Board to participate in the decisions of the Board and to keep informed with respect to such decisions. The duty of loyalty requires Executive Board members to exercise their powers in the interest of International ACAC, rather than in their own personal interest or the interest of another entity or person. The duty of obedience ensures that the Association is operating according to its governing documents and in accordance with the law.

By assuming office, each member of the Executive Board acknowledges that with regard to any activity or opportunity, the best interest of International ACAC must prevail over their individual interests or those of other entities or organizations. Potential board members should understand that their involvement in governance in other organizations might forestall involvement on the International ACAC Executive Board. Before an Executive Board member engages in a transaction, which they may know may be of interest to International ACAC, the Executive Board member must disclose the transaction to the Executive Board in sufficient detail and give adequate time to act or decline with regard to such transaction. A corporate opportunity arises when an Executive Board member knows that they can participate in a transaction, which would possibly fall within, or compete with, International ACAC's present or future activities. The Executive Board member must affirmatively present the opportunity to the Executive Board before participating in the transaction outside International ACAC.

Specific Responsibilities

Each member of the International ACAC Executive Board has these specific responsibilities:

1. To participate fully in all meetings of the Executive Board (in-person and virtually). Applicants are sought annually to

1. Enroll in the Scholar Mentor Program for the first year, and

2. Attend the International ACAC Conference the following year provided they remain eligible for the program.

The Vice President for Support, Access, and Success, along with their committee, will coordinate the nomination and selection process for this program.

All applicants who are not selected for the Scholar Program will be given the opportunity to be considered for membership and enrol in the International ACAC Virtual Scholar Program which provides a dedicated pathway for unselected applicants to become members and also access PD and resources. The VSP will include Virtual PD opportunities including Mentorship Circles (with support from the Mentor Year Program) and access to webinars, web resources, and other PD opportunities offered by members. Additional support will be provided through opportunities to apply for bursaries and Opportunity Grants, and scholarships for Regional Institutes where they qualify.

Criteria

To be eligible for the program, the counselor must meet the following criteria:

1. Has not previously attended an International ACAC Annual Conference or NACAC Annual Conference.

  - a. Renewal form assumes the scholar has maintained their membership in International ACAC. If there is a gap in years, the scholar may need to reapply for membership.

Those selected for the Scholar Program must meet International ACAC's membership eligibility. As part of the application review, Support, Access, and Success committee members will refer to the association's membership policies to identify eligibility issues. Scholar program eligibility will be confirmed by the Vice President for Membership and Data, once the final scholar cohort has been selected.

An individual selected for the Scholar Program will be required to secure all necessary visas to participate in the program. If visas are not secured, the individual will forfeit the award and all Scholar Program benefits, other than one year's membership in International ACAC. Travel costs to the nearest consulate or embassy to obtain a visa will be provided if these costs present significant financial hardship to the Scholar. Scholars who are denied a visa to attend the annual conference will be invited to apply for the Scholar Program in the following cycle to attempt the process a second time. Assuming the Scholar continues to meet eligibility criteria and fully participates in the program during their selection year, the Scholar will be given priority consideration for the following year's cohort. Scholars who start the visa acquisition process but are unable to complete it in the current year, will be given complimentary membership for the current year and can attend the conference as part of the Scholar Program the following year so long as they engage and continue to meet eligibility requirements.

International ACAC Gathering Grants Program

Gathering Grants facilitate member connections from around the world. Members are encouraged to host casual social and networking events with colleagues in their local area. Multiple grants will be offered per calendar year at an amount designated by the Executive Board according to the annual operating budget. International ACAC shall strive to maintain a reserve fund of no less than 200% of one year's annual operating expenses (exclusive of the Annual Conference expenses), to ensure the Association's ability to meet our annual financial obligations.

Financial Operations

Budgeting and Finance Process

1. International ACAC's fiscal year runs from January 1 to December 31.
2. The fiscal year in which events occur is the fiscal year in which all expenses and revenues for those events are to be accounted for in the budget.

Requests for reimbursement should be made as soon as possible after expenditures and, if presented later than 60 days post-expenditure, will be at the discretion of the Executive Vice President for Finance.

Authorized Expenses

International ACAC is an association of volunteers, and its strength lies in the dedication, support, and commitment of its members and their institutions. It is recognized, however, that not all institutions are able or willing to assume the costs associated with leadership positions. The Association does not want the lack of financial support to prohibit the participation of members who may wish to assume leadership roles. As such, the Association will provide financial support for those assuming leadership positions within the Association as follows.

For all expenses, a completed reimbursement form shall be submitted to the International ACAC Executive Director and Executive Vice President for Finance as soon as possible, and no later than 60 days after the event for which the expenses were incurred.

- b. The expenses incurred by registration costs for the NACAC Conference are separate from the travel stipend amounts listed below.

- 4. International ACAC Executive Board members' expenses (hotel, airfare, and approved ground transportation) are reimbursed up to the following amounts, if their employer will not cover NACAC expenses. Board members should first approach their own employer to cover travel costs prior to submitting expense reports to International ACAC.

- 3. The President-Elect, in cooperation with the Executive Director, may waive the registration and/or housing fees of any members of the NACAC Board of Directors

Airfare costs must be approved by the Executive Vice President for Finance prior to booking.

2. Membership in International ACAC is a privilege, not a right. The Executive Board has established that membership shall be extended at the discretion of the Membership and Data Committee, the Member Engagement Committee, the Vice President for Membership and Data, the Vice President for Member Engagement, and the Executive Board.
  - a. Members are expected to adhere to high standards of individual personal conduct. Conflicts of interest, whether real or perceived, discourse that is disrespectful, and unprofessional conduct undermine trust in our work.

If renewing their membership in the future, the member must request to rejoin the Facebook group once their renewal has been processed.
- 3. Membership in International ACAC is linked to unique individuals. Each person must maintain their own membership in International ACAC.
  - a. Persons joining in the Small Organization, Organizational, and Institutional categories serve as representatives of their organization; therefore, they should join the membership category that aligns appropriately with both their organization type and their professional role.
  - b. Members are encouraged to maintain their account with International ACAC throughout their career.
- 4. Member profiles must be updated when an individual changes jobs (this may require a change in category or dues) within 90 days or if any of the following changes apply:
  - a. Their organization name changes.

Current International ACAC members should inform the Membership and Data Committee of any updates to their membership category within 90 days of transitioning to a new role and/or a new membership category. Changes in membership category or organization will require a review from the Membership and Data Committee and continued membership is not guaranteed.
